

NP03 (Boden)

Open position for a PhD student in the field of physiology and neurobiology. The project is sponsored by the European Community CavNET Research Training Network, has duration of three years and aims to yield a PhD thesis. Candidates with the ambition to develop into career scientist should be enthusiastic people that with interest in multi-electrode recording from the brain.

Open Post Doc position (two years). The candidate should have a PhD in the field of neurobiology, neurophysiology or biophysics, with good training in the field of electrophysiology. The work will focus on the functional analysis of voltage-gated L-type channels in the central nervous system.